

I urge you NOT to take any action to lessen Indiana's privacy law. Our unwanted solicitation calls have dropped by 7-10/day--mostly in the evening when we were tired or eating. It feels like an invasion to have a presence enter your home and persistently argue with you about spending money for something you don't want. Please don't do anything to make that start up again... We shouldn't have to employ services that screen out calls. We are on a fixed income. This is America. We have the right to NOT SHOP when we are home.
